OUR HISTORY

Standing proudly in the heart of Spalding since 1843, The Sessions House is a landmark not just of architecture, but of history. Commissioned as the original courthouse for the district, this magnificent Grade II* listed building was designed by architects Charles Kirk and Thomas Taylor in a grand, Gothic revival style to reflect its civic importance.

For nearly 150 years, justice for the Parts of Holland was dispensed within these storied walls.

Did you know the famous strongman Geoff Capes once worked here? Did you know The Sessions House was the gas mask distribution centre during WW2 and we still have the metal anti-aircraft gun emplacements on the towers? And up to date, The Sessions House has witnessed over 20,000 marriages, including when the registrar office was located here.

"WE FEEL TRULY CARED FOR"

We were so impressed with the value we got at The Sessions House. When we first started looking at venues, so many seemed appealing price-wise initially, but then everything was an extra! But the hosts at The Sessions House were completely different. They were incredibly generous and helpful from the start, offering so many things as part of the package or help us source them. It felt like they genuinely wanted us to have the best possible wedding, rather than just trying to squeeze money out of us. All the staff members we interacted with gave the same impression. It made such a difference to our whole experience. We felt truly cared for, and it made our wedding day even more special.
